Roadmap

The time for Algeria has come to gain its true independence, after decades of an independence the least that can be said about is perfidy and betrayal for millions of martyrs.

Therefore, the Revolutionary Committee for Unity and action and in order to find a peaceful solution to the crisis in Algeria, propose an appropriate Roadmap to the current situation.

Roadmap items:

Item #1:

The recognition of the current Executive authority that the February 22 Revolution is a true popular revolution, in order to build the new Republic of Algeria.

Item #2:

The announcement of the beginning of the transitional phase by the executive authority, in order to organize the arise of the the new Algerian state, a state of law and justice, a state that Correspond to the aspirations and the demands of the popular revolution.

Item #3:

The release and the acquittal of all political prisoners and free expression detainees since 1962, as well as the return of all Exiles and those deprived of passports.

Item #4:

Freeing the press and the media without conditions or restrictions, And the abolishing of the control of the Algerian advertising Agency as a funder of the press.

Item #5:

The the Liberation of the judiciary system with new mechanisms that guarantee its full independence.

Item #6:

Freedom to establish associations and political parties on the basis of a public statement only.

Item #7:

Set up a joint body between the Executive Authority and the Revolutionary Committee, in order to organize the electoral code, reviewing electoral lists and setting the deadlines for parliamentary elections.

Item #8:

After the Parliamentary elections, the Installing of the transitional government which is formed from Parliament.
The coexistence stage begins between the people Parliamentary representatives and the executive authority inherited from the retreating system.

Item #9:

The transitional government Emerging from Parliament authorized by the people initiate the organization of the local elections.

Item #10:

The transitional government after the local elections, holds presidential elections.

Important clarifications:

Clarification #1:

Defining the concepts of both the elected parliament and the government emanating from the parliament, both of which are political bodies, that supervise the transition phase and its role ends with the election of the legal president of the the Republic.

Clarification #2:

In the transitional phase, the country affaires are managed based on a parliamentary system, this means that the prime minister and the government emanate from Parliament and not from the executive authority.
